SHE HAS GAPHOIDEOPHRENIA

Alienist Finds Great Name to Indicate Woman's Irresponsibility for Letters She Is Charged With Writing.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NORWALK, Conn., April 11.—The worst is known and Dr. Carlton Simon, an alienist of New York, stands for it. The dreadful thing concerns the mental condition of Mrs. McClellan, who is now in a retreat in Hartford. The doctor says:

"Graphoideophrasia is a serious affliction. Who would have suspected that such an innocent, musical word would have so much of the harshness of life hid about it. It is the writing media," continues the doctor, "combined with a marked perversion of ideas. It is an emotional disease, and most of its victims are women. Ninety per cent of anonymous and abusive letters are written by women."

"A study of the Rowan case convinces me that the schoolmaster's wife is the victim of this disease. She should not give her up to the law, but should place her in an asylum, where her case can be carefully treated."

Distress After Eating

Nausea between meals, belching, vomiting, flatulence, fits of nervous headache, pain in the stomach, are all symptoms of dyspepsia, and the longer it is neglected the harder it is to cure it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Radically and permanently cure it—strengthen and tone the stomach and other digestive organs for the natural performance of their functions.

Accept no substitute for Hood's. "I had dyspepsia twenty-five years and took different medicines but got no help until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Have taken four bottles of this medicine and can now eat almost anything, sleep well, have no cramps in my stomach, no burning and no distress." Mrs. WILLIAM G. BARRETT, 14 Olney St., Providence, R. I. Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keep the system.

WOMAN FELL OFF MOUNTAIN

Botanist Dropped Into Stream and Was Whirled Over Two Cataracts Without Injury.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—Miss Alice Eastwood, botanist for the Academy of Sciences, plunged headlong over two cataracts down into a deep pool the other day on the slopes of Tamalpais.

She was fortunate in escaping bodily injury, but her nerves were so unstrung by the experience that she has gone to Ukiah for a rest.

In the practical study of the sciences in which she is a specialist, Miss Eastwood spends much of her life out of doors among the rocks and crags of the coast range. She is a great favorite among the Cross-country Club members and is often a guest of the club on its federation tours.

On the last trip of the club she decided to leave the party at the base of Tamalpais and was interested in looking down the torrent which heavy rains had converted into a cataract. The cataract, which she watched the angry water, she stepped closer to the edge. The soft earth of the bank, loosened by the rain, crumbled under her feet, and before Miss Eastwood knew what had happened she was whirling over the falls. Over the first slope and over the second she plunged and only stopped at the bottom of a deep pool into which the water leaps.

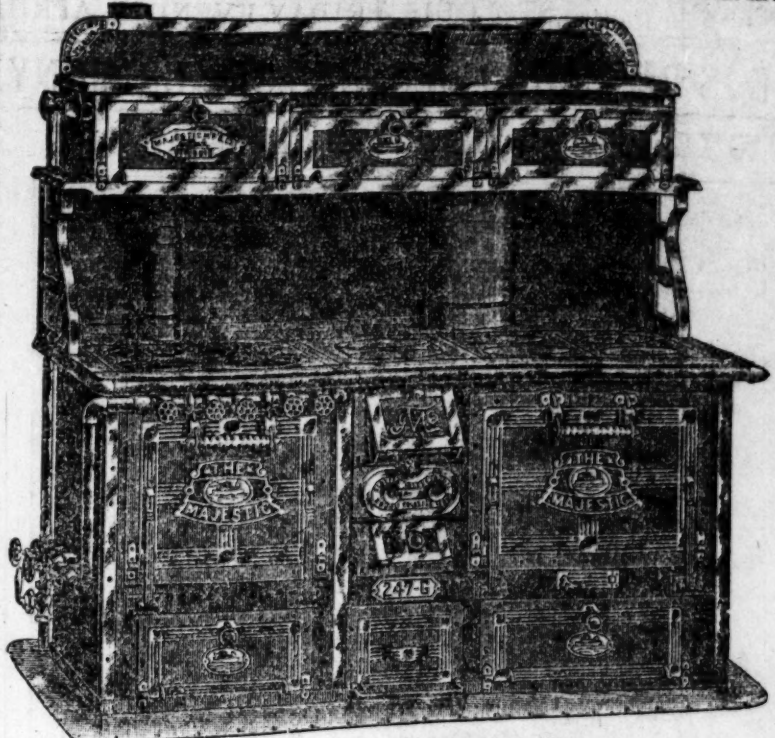

In all this ugly slide and final plunge Miss Eastwood kept her head bravely. The depth of the pool broke her fall and saved her from being dashed against the rocks. As soon as she came to the surface she made for the bank and crawled out. Her clothes were torn, but apart from a few bruises she had sustained no hurt. After lying on the bank for some time to steady herself she was able to finish her climb to the summit. At the tavern she obtained restoratives and dry clothes.

MAJESTIC COOKING RANGES

MAJESTIC COMBINATION COAL AND GAS RANGE. MAJESTIC COAL RANGE.

MAJESTIC GAS RANGE

With Extra Upper Broiler and Water Heater.

Of either style or pattern, are the standard in the United States today. No intelligent person in the trade who is not aware of this fact. The reasons we give briefly: All parts liable to crack or break are made of malleable iron, and are practically indestructible. The bodies are made of open hearth steel, made especially for us; every rivet is drawn tight, and no gas or ashes can ever leak; not a particle of stove cement is ever used, because we have no cracks or open places to fill up; the flues are so arranged as to give you quicker results from your fire; the oven will bake quick and evenly, and, if properly used, your fuel bills will be less than half.

Our Combination Coal and Gas, as illustrated, is the embodiment of all that is useful and beautiful. The illustration does not do the goods justice. The Gas Ranges and Water Heaters are 50 per cent ahead of anything on the market. Why take chances on inferior goods? Call at houses named below and examine for yourself.

OFFERS $250,000 FOR AIRSHIP

Sir Hiram Maxim Would Pay That For Genuine Article, But He Bars Mere Balloons.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright) 1902, by Press Publishing Co.
LONDON, April 11.—The Daily Express publishes the following offer from Sir Hiram Maxim:

"If any one will bring me a successful flying machine, not a balloon, which will travel a satisfactory speed to make it suitable for military purposes and protected by sound patents, I will pay over the sum of £50,000 ($250,000)."

"In the development of the motor for the flying machine is sure to come, but its use will be restricted to military and sporting purposes. I do not believe the air will ever be successfully navigated by balloons, although we ought to give M. Santos-Dumont great credit for the admirable work he has accomplished."

"In the development of the motor for the secret of the experimental work of M. Santos-Dumont. Others will, without doubt, make very important developments in this direction."

"It will be necessary to wait only a little while—a few months, perhaps a year or two—and then the motor will reach its final stage and it will be possible then to make a flying machine."

DREIBUND IN ITS OLD FORM.

Neue Freie Presse Says There Will Be No Changes.

VIENNA, April 11.—The German imperial chancellor, Count von Buelow, started for Berlin today.

According to the Neue Freie Presse, the Dreibund will be renewed in its old form, as the chancellor's conference here established the fact that it would be wise to replace the present satisfactory arrangements by others of a more experimental character.

BRUSSELS RULED WITH BAYONETS

Squadrons of Cavalry Patrol the Chief Streets.

MANY INJURED IN RIOTS

SOCIALISTS DEMAND REVISION OF CONSTITUTION.

The Movement for Wider Liberty in Belgium Is Widespread and May Culminate in a Coup Next Week.

BRUSSELS, April 11.—Semblance of order was restored among the rioters in the Rue Stevens early this morning. The police, who had borne the brunt of the fighting, were strongly reinforced by the gendarmes and civic guards with loaded rifles. Orders were issued to use all the force necessary to drive the mob out of the Maison du Peuple.

Just as the order was about to be executed the chiefs of the socialists offered to evacuate the building quietly.

Estimates of the number wounded during the riots vary from 40 to 100, but scores of injured were carried off and hidden by friends.

A large number of rioters were arrested and are still detained.

The burgomasters of Brussels and suburban municipalities have proclaimed that meetings of more than 10 persons are prohibited and that any one found carrying a revolver shall be liable to six months' imprisonment.

All centers of agitation are bristling today with bayonets. Squads of cavalry are continually patrolling the chief streets and guarding the shops which were threatened with plundering by the rioters.

A manifesto signed by the general council of the labor party has been widely posted. It demands a revision of the constitution and universal suffrage.

Telegrams from the country districts indicate the widespread character of the movement, which threatens to culminate in a grand coup next week, during the reform debate in Parliament.

A thousand demonstrators caused great disturbances at Brussels last night until routed by repeated charges of the gendarmes.

At La Louviere 6,000 men ceased work, forcing the workers in the large industrial establishments at La Croix and Heine St. Pierre to join them. The strikers threaten to burn all factories where the workers refuse to quit.

Strong detachments of cavalry are now patrolling the district in order to protect the factories.

A telegram from Mons says the work still continues in the district, but a strike and disorders are threatened. Troops have been sent to the district to cope with possible rioting.

MANCHESTER NOT A BANKRUPT

Order Declaring Him Such Is Annulled Notwithstanding Rash Speculations and Extravagance in Living.

LONDON, April 11.—In the bankruptcy court today the registrar decided, in spite of "rash speculations and extravagance in living," that he would annul the bankruptcy of the Duke of Manchester, an arrangement having been made by which the sum of £11,875 is provided, giving the creditors 12s. 6d. in the pound sterling.

THE "CARMAGNOLE" IN BRUSSELS

"La Carmagnole," which the cable says the mobs are singing in Brussels, took its name from Carmagnole, a town in Italy, near the right bank of the River Po, in the province of Turin, sixteen miles south of the city of the same name.

In the sixteenth century it was fortified by the French, but fell into the hands of the Savoyards in 1588, and was assigned to them at the peace of 1601.

On the capture by the army of the revolution in 1792 its name became famous as the title of a republican dancing song, which finished every verse with the refrain:

Dansons la Carmagnole,
Vive la son cannon.
(Let us dance the Carmagnole,
Long live the cannon's roar.)

The word "Carmagnole" was soon applied to a vest of common material and peculiar cut, recognized as the badge of a true Republican. Not long afterward it was used jocosely to designate the exaggerated reports that the republicans had won the victories of the patriot army. The song has been sung by all revolutionary bodies in France, and was especially popular in the day of the Commune.

Following is a rough translation of the song:

Great Madame Veto swore one day
The folks of Paris she would slay;
Our cannoniers were the first to Join her in the fray.

We'll dance the Carmagnole;
Brothers, rejoice and rejoice,
We'll dance the Carmagnole;
Hail to the cannon's roar.

Her husband thought he was in luck—
He had just married a Frenchman's pluck;
So, lusty Louis, so,
You'll be the Temple go.

We'll dance the Carmagnole, etc.
All honest folks throughout the land
Will by the patriot army stand.

ruined checks. She is employed by a dressmaker, who resides at 213 Park avenue.

Mrs. Charles Goebler of 275 Benton street, the girl's mother, said to the Post-Dispatch Friday morning:

Daughter Mixed Up.
"My daughter is only 18 years old. At the time this shooting occurred she was only 14. We didn't want her mixed up in this thing. But I didn't think what she knew about it was important, and I had forgotten all about the case long ago until the lawyers came to see me yesterday."

"I think Mrs. Miller made things out worse than they were. If she was so anxious to do something, why didn't she do it sooner, without waiting until it was so late?"

Mrs. Rachel Miller, now residing at 2710 Madison street, who reported Miss Goebler's statement to the authorities, said to the Post-Dispatch Friday morning:

"Birdie Goebler came into my room right after the shooting occurred and told me all about it, describing how the negro shot the white boy in self-defense. I know that."

Mrs. William Wagner of 3125½ Lempi avenue witnessed the execution of Louis Flutcher in the Four Courts jailyard Friday morning. She is the first woman to view a hanging in St. Louis.

Mrs. Wagner is the wife of the deputy jailer. She has heard much about executions because of her husband's connections with those that occur at the Four Courts and she has read the details of all that occurred in recent years in St. Louis with exceptional interest.

More than once she told her husband that she would like to see a man pay the death penalty, but Mr. Wagner never grew enthusiastic over the suggestion.

When she read that Flutcher was to be executed Friday morning she insisted that her husband take her with him to the jailyard. He told her she would faint, but she declared that she would take the risk.

She reached the jail before 6 o'clock Friday morning and was provided with a chair as one of the jail windows overlooking the gallows. From that point of vantage she watched Flutcher march from the jail into the place of death, saw the deputy sheriff adjust the black cap about his head and saw the negro drop swiftly into eternity.

o'clock and reported they had just discovered witnesses who, it is alleged, through fear, had been restrained from appearing at the trial. I thought it best, as a matter of caution, to ask the governor for a reprieve of 10 days, until I could fully investigate and examine these witnesses.

"I do not think they could give testimony that would have changed the result, but in so solemn and serious a matter as the execution of a human being, I wanted nothing left undone in bringing all the facts to light."

"It was an act of mercy and humanity more than anything else. It was unfortunate that the sheriff did not get the reprieve in time, but I am satisfied there would have been no change in the matter as the defendant would have been executed in 15 days, instead of now."

A full and complete examination of all the evidence convinces me that the defendant properly paid the penalty of the law for his crime."

MORE FIREMEN AND NEW PUBLIC WORK

COMPTROLLER'S ESTIMATE OF CITY EXPENDITURES ARE COMPLETED.

AGGREGATE IS $6,100,000.

Bridge Across King's Highway, Street and Sewer Building and General Expenses Are Included.

The building of a new bridge across the railroad tracks on King's highway, the addition of 100 men to the fire department, and general street and sewer reconstruction are leading items in the budget of city expenditures for the coming fiscal year, now being prepared by Comptroller James Y. Player for the guidance of the Municipal Assembly.

The estimate of the comptroller calls for an appropriation of about $6,100,000 for all municipal purposes. The expenditures for the fiscal year just closing have been $5,500,738.55. This was an excess of $589,261.45 over the appropriation. The most important items of extra demand for the present year are: Street—Black Spring and Tower Grove, $50,000; Bridge—City portion of cost for reconstruction for various streets, $78,000; Bridge—King's highway bridge (over railroad tracks), $250,000; Street—If made temporary structure, $50,000; For this amount the Price Railway Co. will pay $150,000; Department—Increase in force (100 men), $50,000; Sewer—Addition to $200,000; Balance of approximately $200,000 in municipal revenue will remain after the transfer of funds, according to Mr. Player's estimate. Of this amount, $100,000 is set apart for the payment of the police commission, for which no appropriation has ever been made.

The principal items of expenditure last year, aside from routine items of the budget, were the charter amendments special election, the maintenance of the quarantine hospital, the smoke abatement department, garbage reduction and the addition to the Female Hospital.

College of Pharmacy Commencement.

SMOTHER A COUGH.

You can smother a cough with your hand but you can't cure it that way. Some medicines only smother coughs.

Scott's Emulsion cures them. Old coughs and deep-rooted coughs can't be cured until the inflammation which causes them has been replaced by healthy tissue.

That is exactly the kind of thorough work Scott's Emulsion does. It changes the entire nature of the throat and lungs so that there is nothing to cough about.

N. O. BOOTH OF MISSOURI UNIVERSITY PREPARES BULLETIN.

SPRAYING IS DEFENDED

He Says It Is Part of Fruit Growing and Gives Formulas With Methods.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. COLUMBIA, Mo., April 11.—N. O. Booth, assistant in horticulture at the Missouri State University, has prepared a bulletin on spraying, showing the times to spray and for what purposes it should be done.

The last bulletin issued by the experiment station was seven years ago. The new bulletin has been materially changed as a result of seven years' experience.

Mr. Booth calls attention to the improvements that have been made in spraying machines and advises all who have occasion to spray to keep on hand a collection of catalogues of spraying machinery for reference and for standard spraying mixtures. The bulletin says: "There is no part of fruit growing that is so apt to be neglected as spraying. The busy season of the year at which it must be done and the fact that the results do not show immediately, are probably responsible for this neglect. And yet if good results are expected, there is nothing more imperative than thorough work. It is especially important to do the first spraying in the spring thoroughly. At this time the plants should be sprayed with a fine mist until they drop. The opportunity to reach all parts of a tree are never so good after the leaves appear."

He advises that the pump used should be the very best quality, for the results depend largely upon the apparatus used. All parts of the force pump used that come in contact with the liquid should be of brass. Concerning the efficacy of spraying Mr. Booth says: "Spraying for insect pests and fungous diseases gives widely varying results. For black rot of the grape, for example, it is almost, if not quite, a complete preventive, and apple scab can be reduced that the damage is comparatively trifling. But for rot, however, frequently requires more persistent and careful spraying and even then it is not held so well in check. Insects very much as fungus in their ability to withstand spray mixtures. Some persons expect too much from spraying. They think if they spray for certain diseases and find the least trace of that disease, no matter how slight, that the spraying has been a failure. Spraying is a preventive, not a cure. Once a disease like rot or scab has gained entrance into a fruit it is beyond the reach of spray mixtures. Therefore, a person should not wait until his whole plantation is affected before commencing to spray."

He discusses spraying instead of liquid, which has been brought to the attention of the fruit growers of the state within the last few years. He says that when the machines for this purpose have been perfected it will present advantages over the liquid spraying for large growers, but that it is not likely to supplant liquid spraying in small orchards. In many places in the Ozarks it is not convenient to secure the necessary water. It has been demonstrated beyond a reasonable doubt that the danger of poisoning to man and beast in spraying with a standard liquid solution is practically nothing. This point has not been determined, however, in the case of dust mixtures. On potatoes and certain low growing garden vegetables, however, insecticides in the form of dust have been applied for years with success. He is testing some of these machines and hopes to give some more definite data on this point in the course of another year.

The following is the calendar for spraying prepared by Mr. Booth: Apple-Scab, blight, rot, biting insects, twig blight. The first application to be made before buds begin to swell in spring. Second application, when fruit is small. Third application, when fruit is large. Fourth application, when fruit is mature. Fifth application, when fruit is ripe. Sixth application, when fruit is overripe. Seventh application, when fruit is falling. Eighth application, when fruit is on the ground. Ninth application, when fruit is on the ground. Tenth application, when fruit is on the ground.

Cabbage-Worms. First application, when worms appear. Repeat second and third applications if necessary. Harlequin bug, when the insects appear on the catch or trap crop apply kerosene. Do not spray cabbage with kerosene at any time. Sow catch rows of mustard or radishes and spray with pure kerosene when the insects get on them. Late, first application, when insects appear, with quassal and tobacco solution. Repeat if necessary the second, third and fourth times.

Current and Gooseberry-Mildew, worms, aphids; first application, when leaves appear. Second application, when leaves are small. Third application, when leaves are large. Fourth application, when leaves are mature. Fifth application, when leaves are overripe. Sixth application, when leaves are falling. Seventh application, when leaves are on the ground. Eighth application, when leaves are on the ground. Ninth application, when leaves are on the ground. Tenth application, when leaves are on the ground.

Evergreen-Bag worms; the first application, when bag worms first appear. Repeat second application, when bag worms are small. Third application, when bag worms are large. Fourth application, when bag worms are mature. Fifth application, when bag worms are overripe. Sixth application, when bag worms are falling. Seventh application, when bag worms are on the ground. Cure every disorder of the kidneys and Bladder. If you suffer from Backache, Urinary Troubles or any Kidney ill it isn't safe to experiment with some untried remedy—get a medicine endorsed by people you know.

ST. LOUIS PROOF

South Broadway.

Mr. John Sticker of No. 735 South Broadway says: "Six long weeks on account of an aching back I could hardly get up or down, turn in bed or lift a bucket of water. I used plasters and tried everything that came to my notice before I went to Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.'s for Doan's Kidney Pills. I was not sure whether my kidneys were the cause of the trouble or not when I commenced the treatment, but this I do know, Doan's Kidney Pills have effectively disposed of the last attack."

Allen Avenue.

Mrs. Joseph Hergal of 1714 Allen avenue says: "I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that Doan's Kidney Pills did me a vast amount of good. For several months before I went to Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.'s for them I suffered intensely at times from pain in the small of my back. There were other distressing symptoms of kidney complaint which I need not mention. I had been reading about Doan's Kidney Pills in the newspapers for a few days before I made my visit to the drug store, and I commenced the treatment with considerable faith in the medicine, as it was guaranteed to cure kidney complaint, and kidney complaint only. My confidence was rewarded by the last attack disappearing."

CAUTION: Get what you ask for. GET DOAN'S. Don't accept something "just as good." Most druggists sell Doan's Kidney Pills, and will give you what you call for. The reason a tablet food — or concentrated food — doesn't sustain you is that you haven't a tablet sized stomach. Food must have a certain bulk or the digestion can't take hold of it quickly enough to get its good. Food that sustains you is SCOTCH OATS... It gives more tissue and vim—actually gives them to your system—than any laboratory food—or any form of meat—or any other natural food.

THE CHILDREN, HEAVEN BLESS THEM!

Are They Frail, Restless and Nervous?

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND

Will Make Them Vigorous, Healthy, Bright and Happy.

As a rule, parents are to blame if their children are puny, weak, nervous, and irritable. The little ones may be well clothed and fed yet still be sadly neglected from a physical point of view. It should be remembered that the children inherit many of the troubles that parents suffer from. Thousands of little ones are subjects of nerve troubles, a condition inherited from father or mother. This nervous condition begets irritability, bad temper, headache, indigestion, and stomach derangements. Such children need the best and most intelligent care, or they will grow up in misery and disease.

Give the little ones Paine's Celery Compound for the next few weeks, and note well its fortifying effect on the nervous system; watch the growth in muscle and flesh.

Thousands of thankful letters have been received from glad fathers and mothers who have had their dear ones perfectly restored to health and strength by Paine's Celery Compound.

Mr. J. P. Surface, Bluefield, W. Va., deems it necessary to give testimony in favor of Paine's Celery Compound. His little son was nervous and in a dangerous condition from heart trouble. Dr. Phelps' marvelous prescription was used, and the little fellow's health is now satisfactory. Mr. Surface writes thus: "Up to the time our little boy commenced to take Paine's Celery Compound he had heart trouble. Every night after going to bed he would have nervous spells, and could not get his breath, and did not know what he was doing. In six weeks that he has been using Paine's Celery Compound he has wonderfully improved in health and strength."

VETERAN RODE WITH SCOUT THROUGH GREAT WILDERNESS.

LAFAYETTE NORMAN'S CAREER

With Fremont, Stockton, Kearny and Others, He Found the Path to the West.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MARION, Ind., April 11.—Lafayette P. Norman, a soldier of three wars, now a member of the National Military Home here is a hero with a record that reads like a romance.

From a farm in Missouri he emigrated with his father in 1844, traveled with ox teams, and for six months to the city of Sacramento, Cal. That country then belonged to Mexico and was under the jurisdiction of that government, and the advent of Americans was looked on with disfavor. The only settlements were ranches from twenty to forty miles apart, and the advancing civilization received many hard knocks.

In 1849 the American settlers, tired of Mexican rule, met at Sonora. A declaration of independence was made and a constitution adopted, a flag with a grizzly bear painted on a piece of burlap being adopted and the territory declared to be a free and independent state.

A provisional army of 65 men was raised, and veteran Norman immediately enlisted as a private. Mexican General Don Castro, hearing of this movement, dispatched a force, attacked the little army and was repulsed.

In the spring of 1847 the Americans were surprised to find that John C. Fremont, the pathfinder, was coming, and his arrival proved to be an epoch in California affairs. He immediately took command of the force, took possession of Hawk's Nest, fortified the place and there the stars and stripes were raised for the first time on California soil.

Fremont then went to San Francisco to raise reinforcements, returned, advanced, captured the Mexicans under the Castro, and the arrival of the fleet, under Commodore Stockton and Sloat, and the capture of Los Angeles soon after culminated in the surrender of the Mexican territory to the United States. Veteran Norman remembers the conflict of authority between Gen. Kearney and Fremont that ended in Fremont being placed under arrest, court-martialed and subsequently dismissed from the service.

But the chief event of Norman's career came when it was decided that there must be immediate communication with the states. The renowned Kit Carson, who had accompanied Fremont, was detailed to make the journey back and to take five men with him. Norman was one of the five. They were to return to St. Louis and must reach it in 60 days. They traversed the country now known as Arizona, New Mexico until they reached the Rio Grande. There they met the army of Gen. Kearny marching overland. To Gen. Kearny Kit Carson turned over his dispatches and was ordered back to California.

As none of the party had been mustered into the United States service and the war with Mexico was still going on, four of the party, with Carson's consent, enlisted in a cavalry regiment then organizing to go forward to the seat of war in Mexico. Col. Doniphan, the commander, must have immediate communication with Gen. Wool, and Carson and Norman were detailed to carry the dispatches. Wool was then supposed to be near Chihuahua, marching to the Mexican capital. A journey of 80 miles through the enemy's country was made, and the column of Gen. Taylor was reached two days before the battle of Buena Vista. Veteran Norman states that up to this time he had ridden 3000 miles on horseback, but had no fighting to speak of. Now he had an opportunity to take part in the struggle in which the Mexican general, Santa Anna, with 20,000 men, played a big bluff. "Rough and Ready," with but 6000 men, "called" him and won the pot.

WASHINGTON POLICE WILL GO TO SCHOOL

CHIEF SYLVESTER WILL INSTRUCT THEM IN RULES.

POLICIES TO BE EXPLAINED.

Regulations Also Will Be Constructed So That There Can No Longer Be Confusion.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, April 11.—Major Richard Sylvester, the chief of the metropolitan police force, will establish a school for the instruction of the force.

It is the intention to start the school about the first of the coming month, and Major Sylvester himself will look after the classes at the beginning. Only those men who have become members within the past year or so will be called upon to attend at the beginning, as the experience of the organization of the metropolitan police force in the district there never was a time when uniform instruction was given to the force, except in the rules laid down in the manual, which officers would endeavor to live up to literally—an utter impossibility—and upon which another would place his own construction only to realize his mistake when called upon to charge.

The school was organized in an establishment which for 3 years followed a line of policy laid down at the time of its organization. It was recognized that policemen who have served on the force most of their lives are apt to be thoroughly imbued with original methods, from which it is difficult to depart. Such improvements or changes are contemplated to be permanent and effective must be made gradually. It is also recognized that it is hard to teach new ways, and it is not always good policy to change agents who have rendered a long and faithful service, and who have been an experience which counts for the foundation of effective work if they are still susceptible of grasping advanced rules for conduct. It is considered that best results will follow their retention and education.

In order that the members may be in full accord with the policy of the department, and be conversant with the manual as well as the more important, it is thought that instruction, given with respect to the regulations and the manual governing individual conduct, interpretation of the police regulations and of the laws as administered from a headquarters standpoint, would materially aid in securing a clearer and more effective co-operation. This is part of the plan to establish a close relationship and thorough understanding between members of the force and the manual of the department in all matters which are of interest to them, and which so directly concern the public.

Some time ago it became manifest to the superintendent of police that verbal directions were not generally interpreted alike, and as a consequence they have since been given out in printed orders. It was thought too much to ask that a member of the force remember descriptions of lost property and persons wanted. This was obtained by the publication of a daily bulletin, which furnished each member of the force, and wherein all matters of the kind are printed in convenient form. Many circulars and orders are placed in the hands of the men for their guidance. All this is with the idea of substantially educating the force along proper lines.

The limited force makes it very difficult to maintain drill, gymnastic school or any of the side issues, which redound to the benefit of the service. The men have too long hours and important sections, including the locations and residences of prominent officials, cannot with the small force at hand, be given that attention they should.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The "water-cure" torture of the Philippines will be investigated next week by the Senate Philippines committee.

All persons now in the United States known to have knowledge on the subject will be summoned to testify. These witnesses will include the late army surgeon, Dr. J. H. Hays, and others.

It was at Senator Rawlin's suggestion that the committee decided to take up the "water-cure" consists in placing the prisoner on his back and pouring water into his mouth or nostrils until he becomes so distended as to suffer intense agony.

MARTIN & MARTIN, MRS., CHICAGO, ILL.

CARRIED $60,000 IN DIAMONDS WITH HER

YOUNG WOMAN ASTONISHED THE CUSTOMS EXAMINERS.

MOST OF THEM WERE IN BAG

All Were Purchased Here and Fair Traveler Was Not Loth to Show Them.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—One of the largest and most valuable collections of diamonds ever handled by the local customs officers was among the possessions of Mrs. L. H. Holme of New York, who arrived in this city from Havana. As the diamonds were all bought in New York and were domestic goods there was no appraised value, but rough estimates place their value at about $60,000.

Mrs. Holme was a passenger on the Excelsior. When the passengers walked off the ship to the wharf, where the customs officers were stationed, she was stopped. The work of examining the baggage was begun, and it was not long before Mrs. Holme, who wore a large number of diamonds, became the center of attraction. She was dressed in a light pink striped waist with a black skirt. She wore a walking hat with a white veil. Around her neck and hanging down to the waist, was a chain containing 148 diamonds, said to be worth about $2000. She had rings on the fingers of both hands. She wore a pair of beautiful pearl earrings surrounded with three-quarter carat diamonds.

After these customs officials had gone through the baggage and found no diamonds, came to the decision that the appraisement of the diamonds' value was too big a task for them, and concluded to send the appraiser's office in the custom house.

Mrs. Holme, accompanied by J. J. Dunn, who is said to be a New York broker, and one of the customs officers crossed the river and took a cab to the custom house.

It was in the appraiser's office where the display of all the diamonds was made, and when the appraiser's clerks first looked over the diamonds they left the office blinking. Mrs. Holme carried the little satchel containing her diamonds in her hand, and when the appraiser's office was reached she opened it and showed the different articles of jewelry.

The first article was a tassel belonging to the string of diamonds Mrs. Holme wore. In this were set 200 1/2-k diamonds. Set in the string and in the tassel attached were 418 diamonds. There were lacepins, watch, brooches and diamonds set in all sorts of shapes and devices. There was a large case containing about 20 diamond pins. There were also two beautiful little watches set with diamonds. On all the jewelry were the names of New York firms, thus proving that they were domestic goods.

At the customs house Mrs. Holme's answers to the questions further show she is a very wealthy woman of New York, being worth about $1,500,000 and traveling for her health. She showed the officials her bank book, according to which she has $100,000 to her credit in a New York bank. She also showed a cash check which she had drawn on that bank for $25,000.

Mrs. Holme, according to her declaration, is 25 years of age. She left Palm Beach, Fla., some time ago and went to Havana, Havana, and then to New Orleans, where she boarded the boat for New Orleans.

MISS STONE IS AT HER HOME

Missionary Tells the Story of Her Captivity.

BRIGANDS WATCHED HEALTH
GAVE PRISONERS BETTER FOOD
THAN THEIR OWN.

Birth of Mrs. Tsilka's Baby Developed Great Chivalry in Them and They Became More Considerate of Captives.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHELSEA, Mass., April 11.—Miss Ellen Stone, who was a captive of Bulgarian brigands for six months, being finally released on a ransom paid by friends, is at her home in this city.

She was accompanied here by her brother, Charles A. Stone, who met her at the Deutschland in New York.
The anxiety that she endured during captivity is stamped upon her features, but otherwise she now seems no worse because of her experience.
"I am delighted to be at home again," she said. "The pleasure is infinitely greater because of my conviction for many months that I would never get to see my loved ones and friends again."
"We were passing through the mountain region of Bulgaria, a party of about 10 of us, when suddenly as if they sprang from the rocks, we were surrounded by a band of about 50 or 40 savage-looking men who closed around us. They asked which of the party of women were married. At first Mrs. Goshova, widow, was selected to go with me as chaperon, and then because of her feeble condition she was left behind and Mrs. Tsilka was taken in her place.
"Well, it was all done very quickly and we were ordered to move on and away from our companions before we knew what had really happened. The first day seemed the hardest of all to bear, when it dawned upon us that we were in the hands of brigands. During the afternoon we were allowed to rest for a time, but when night came we were forced to move on again, always traveling at night.

Brigands Always Traveled at Night.
"At our stopping places they kept us in huts, which they built, and in dark places. We never knew where we were, and we saw nobody save the brigands. Then they told us nothing about negotiations for our release. We knew nothing of what was going on in the outside world. They did grudgingly allow me to write a note out a little news as to what was being said about our capture. They told us that our pictures were being written in the newspapers, for instance. But we knew absolutely nothing of any efforts made to save us.

"The food they gave us was generally better than they had themselves and usually they permitted us to eat first. But the threats and taunts they gave us daily were sometimes almost unbearable. There were never any acts of brutal cruelty beyond the terrible threats.
"I was forced to write the letters that you all have read in the newspapers, but I had to do it in this way. One day they carried us on until shortly before our release then came the day of parting to both Mrs. Tsilka and myself, said:
"If the money is not in our hands in twenty days there is a bullet for you and for you, and we knew by their hideous faces that they meant it.
They told us at the start that we were captured and held for money. That is why they were so jealous about our health. They were disgusted with me when I caught a heavy cold, and did not hesitate to tell me so. They were still more disgusted when I fell in a hole and wrenched my knee. They refused me for not taking proper care of myself.

Baby Stirred Them to Chivalry.
"It was the coming of the baby that did most to insure kindness in their demeanor toward us. They were much less harsh and rude in their manner of speech to us after that. It seemed to stir all the chivalry there was in them, and besides they feared to bring down upon themselves the curse which they believe falls upon one who mistreats a woman in mine. Tsilka's condition.
"It was seven weeks before we were released that the baby came—a beautiful little black-eyed girl. I feel that I have a share in the little thing, for it fell to me to take to much care of her. After it was born I carried it in one of our night gowns. It was in such an arrangement as is hung from the mother's back, but I carried it on my knees. It lifted up its voice a good deal and I was very glad that it did not make the brigands angry with its crying. But it did not.
"That night when we set out on our way to liberty we did not know the happiness that was before us. After we had traveled for a certain distance we halted, and the order given to go back with the horses. I did not realize that the brigands had turned us loose until they were out of sight and beyond hearing. Had I done so, I would have called out good-bye to them. Two of their number were left with us, and they guided us to the village where we were left."

Capt. Leyhe's Dog Skipp Followed the River All His Life.

"Skipp," a canine roustabout and all-around river dog, is dead, and his owner, Capt. Harry W. Leyhe of the Bald Eagle, has arranged to have his skin stuffed by a taxidermist.

Skipp was a Scotch collie, and had been reared on the Bald Eagle, and had two generations of his ancestors. He learned to herd cattle, to call the members of the crew when Capt. Leyhe wanted them, and to distinguish the whistles of the boats at the levee landing. He died on board the Bald Eagle near Alton.

WILLIAM STENER SHOT BY HIS SON

Boy Says He Was Defending His Mother.

ALLEGES FATHER QUARRELED IN A SCUFFLE SMALL REVOLVER WAS EXPLODED.

Physicians at St. Elizabeth's Hospital Say Stener Cannot Recover, as Bullet Entered the Abdomen, Piercing Intestines.

William Stener, a carpenter, of Pleasant Hill, a suburb of Belleville, was fatally shot by his 16-year-old son Otto Thursday night.

"The boy was acting, it is said, in defense of his mother.

The father was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital. The bullet entered his abdomen. Stener, it is said, went home intoxicated about 9 o'clock in the evening and started a quarrel with his wife. The son Otto, who was upstairs, heard his father, and after listening awhile became alarmed for his mother.

He secured a small pistol which was in another room on the second floor and walked down into the room where his father and mother were quarreling.

The father seized the boy by the arm. It is said, and tried to shake him. The boy resisted, and after a struggle freed himself. He then drew the revolver from his pocket and fired three shots at his father. One took effect.

The boy informed the neighbors of what he had done. The police were notified and locked him up.

HEFTY HAD SUICIDAL MANIA.

Took a Running Jump From a Third-Story Window.

Mat Hefty of 244 Madison street, a victim of suicidal mania, died at the City Hospital Friday morning.

Monday afternoon Hefty took a running jump from a third-story window at his home. Both legs were broken, his right arm fractured and severe internal injuries were caused by the fall.

The next day at the hospital his mind was clear and he claimed to have been ever since with delirium.

Dr. Nietert said the man's mind was weak.

BURGLAR TRAP VICTIM BETTER.

Revolver Set For Burglars Over Two Weeks Merely on Suspicion.

C. F. Selzer, 144 North Broadway, with whom Daniel Kramer, the author of the burglar trap booby-trap, was at the hospital to see Kramer Thursday. Selzer says Kramer will recover. Selzer denies that Kramer was robbed in the Selzer Hotel.

"He told me six weeks ago that he had hid a revolver in his pocketbook," Selzer said, "and when he came to look again he had only $12. He was not sure he had been robbed at all and if he had he was not sure it had occurred in the house. He said he was suspicious, however, and to make sure he would fix up a trap. He didn't say what kind of a trap he intended to fix. That revolver was in place two weeks. It is a wonder the chambermaid or some one at work about the rooms was not shot as well as Kramer, who was the only one except Kramer knew the trap was set."

FAMOUS MAKES A GREAT CAPTURE OF $28,000 WORTH OF BOYS' FINE CLOTHING

Cohen & Lang—those pushing, aggressive and energetic manufacturers of Boys' and Children's Fine Tailored Clothing, whose product is known as the "Elk Brand"—which is synonymous with all that is dependable, up to date and, to a considerable extent, exclusive in style and design—are moving into new and vastly larger quarters. Desiring to dispose of their spring goods in one transaction, in order to enable them to immediately direct their attention toward the manufacture of stocks for the coming fall and winter, they communicated with Famous. After two days of inspection, we closed the deal on a spot cash offer for the entire stock—aggregating $28,000.

The goods are here—bought at a price low enough to enable us to sell them at 55c to 65c on the dollar. The woolsens are of the best standard makes—colors—navy blue, black, fancy checks, swell stripes and Scotch mixed effects.

DAILY MARKET AND FINANCIAL RECORD

COMMERCE STOCK GAS SKYWARD

NATIONAL BANK SECURITY ADVANCED OVER FIVE POINTS.

OTHER BANK STOCKS BETTER

Traction Continue Quite Dull—United As Unchanged—Simmons Issues Nearly on a Parity.

Reported by Wasserman-Rosenberg Bond and Stock Co.

An overnight advance of $5 in National Bank of Commerce stock was not only maintained, but an additional gain established on the local stock exchange today. A sharp demand, which manifested itself at the beginning of business, resulted in the sale of ten shares at $24.50, and higher than yesterday, afterwards there were sales at $24.50 and $24.50, with the close at the first call of $24.50.

Beyond the fact that the usual extraordinary strides by this institution as regards earnings and that it will presently occupy its own new building, nothing outside of a converted buying demand is held responsible for the aforesaid rise.

Some signs of strength were also given by Third National Bank stock today. In this stock there were fewer offerings than usual and buyers secured lots at $23 and $23.50 at the initial session.

Most other bank stocks showed more strength than has been demonstrated in the past week. Interest reverted to Title Guaranty and Missouri Trust stocks, because of unusual weakness shown by them throughout the session. So-called denials were entered to talk of a combination between the two companies and this prompted selling pressure, which lowered Title Guaranty stock to $18.50, and then steadily rising demand was reached, contrasted with yesterday's high price of $14. But 45 shares sold in all.

Of Missouri Trust there seemed to be more for sale today, and the price, of course, immediately restrained buyers. From $18.50 to $19 was the morning range, a decline of $2 from yesterday.

Colonial Trust also reacted under selling pressure, which lowered its price to $14.50, and then steadily rising demand was reached, contrasted with yesterday's high price of $14. But 45 shares sold in all.

Thirty shares of Germania Trust sold at $24.50, with $24.50 freely bid for more. Union Trust was offered at $4.50, which price, by the way, has been its nominal figure for days past.

At $23 and $23.50 there was fairly good taking of Commonwealth Trust stock. The new shares were not mentioned during the session.

American Central Trust stock is rapidly spreading back toward its record figure. Today's early session saw $17.50 for 120 shares after sales of 20 shares at $17.50.

Earnings of this company were said to be very encouraging, which with its relatively low figures, makes it an attractive proposition among securities of its class.

Bids on Mercantile Trust new and old stocks were advanced $1 to $15. There was a good inquiry for certain industrial bonds today. Brewing Association is advanced fractionally to $4.75, where a block of $5000 was offered.

There was a good inquiry for certain industrial bonds today. Brewing Association is advanced fractionally to $4.75, where a block of $5000 was offered.

St. Louis Transit was bought at yesterday's closing prices of $30.25. More were wanted at that price, $30.25.

A rare occurrence happened at the first call. United Railways preferred, usually in fair demand, was left unopened and not once was a bid or offer made.

A couple of United Railways 4s sold at $100.

Simmons Hardware issues were quiet, with a fair demand for the common and second preferred stocks.
